

Farmers' Training on Integrated Management of the Major Diseases of Maize and Rice

One-day training programme on “Integrated management of the major diseases of maize and rice” was organized under NICRA on 20th November, 2012 at the training hall of KVK, Dimapur. The farmers were trained on the identification and management of the major diseases of Maize and Rice that would occur at different times of the crop season. More than 35 farmers were benefited from the programme.

A resource person delivering lecture during the programme