

Krishi Vigyan Kendra, Tura Celebrates ICAR Foundation day

Krishi Vigyan Kendra, ICAR, Tura celebrated the ICAR Foundation day on 16th July, 2014 at its own campus. More than 100 participants from different villages of West, South West, North and East Garo Hills participated in the programme. Dr. Tanmay Samajdar, Programme Coordinator of KVK welcomed the participants from various villages and explained the history of ICAR and its activities and contribution to Indian agriculture. On this occasion, a Farmers Scientists Interaction was organised. The farmers were advised about the contingency plan for the climatic exigency in Garo Hills. In this programme, 70 nos of selected beneficiaries were rewarded with Smart Farmers Certificate signed by honourable Director General, ICAR, New Delhi for their achievement in agriculture and allied activities in related to climate change under the project “National Initiative on Climate Resilient Agriculture”. The programme was ended with acknowledgement of KVK by the farmers for providing modern technologies which lead to their achievement. Mr. A. S. Singh, SMS (Horticulture), Dr. M. Islam, Mr. T. K. Das and other staff of the KVK were present in the celebration programme.

